

VACANCY.

Atida - Senior Product Owner e-Commerce

Location	: Amsterdam
Salary	: TBD
Number of hours	: Fulltime
Employment	: Permanent

Are you in for a truly unique opportunity? As Senior Product Owner e-Commerce you have the chance to build a platform from the ground up. In an environment of a start-up, while acting on the level of a scale-up. Sounds good? It gets better: You will be working at a company with a great purpose and with the potential of becoming one of the next big international marketplaces. Who we are? Our vision: We want to help you take an active role in reaching your best self

About Atida

At Atida, we are on a mission to help you make better decisions about your health. From proactive to curative, no matter your goals, we will offer an experience that will always revolve around you. We believe in a future where the journey towards health and wellbeing becomes a trusted and truly personal experience. Atida is one of the largest online pharmacies in Europe, with a mission to redefine what "online pharmacy" actually means. Together with an individually tailored supplements program offered by Atida Pure, we are on a mission to help you make better decisions about your health and become the go-to place for personalised, honest and scientifically backed advice with great products to improve your wellbeing. We have local presence in countries in Europe. Currently we are scaling up our international head office in Amsterdam.

About the role Senior Product Owner e-Commerce

As Senior Product Owner e-Commerce you report into the Lead Product Manager of Atida. The Lead Product Manager is responsible for the product strategy and roadmap. The platform of Atida will be built from scratch which This position is a key driver for the delivery and success of the platform. As Senior Product Owner e-Commerce you are responsible for:

- The delivery of and ongoing development of the platform (web and app)
- Delivering products (and sometimes projects) which range from front-end to back-end
- Working with several development teams on delivering the platform
- Problem solving with development teams on technical issues and translating these into solutions
- Sparring with the product team about the product roadmap

About you

As Senior Product Owner e-Commerce you:

- Have at least 4-6 years of relevant experience in delivering SaaS/e-commerce platforms and or digital solutions, preferably at tech organizations
- Have experience as well in front-end as in back-end solutions
- Have experience in scaling up platforms and organizations
- Love to solve problems and have strong feeling for collaboration with development teams
- Work extremely fast
- Have to be a constant learner. You will be always growing - both personally and with the team
- Understand what it takes to work in a start-up environment
- Have experience in scaling platforms in an international environment

What's in it for you?

Within this position of Senior Product Owner e-Commerce you get the opportunity to work in a start-up environment, while working on a European scale with highly talented and motivated people. You are challenged and coached to set the highest standards and get the most out of yourself.

Join the team of Joost van Hilten

Joost is a experienced Chief Marketing & Product Officer with a demonstrated history of working in the e-commerce, telecom and retail finance at OLP, Wehkamp and Mckinsey & Co. Skilled in marketing, product management, driving commercial results, data science, and building & leading teams. MBA from Harvard Business School.

Interested in this vacancy? Please contact Werner Spronk via +31 (0)6 14 43 54 36 of werner.spronk@newpeople.nl.